Anna Johnson & Ralph Orlando

President's Message,

As you already know, we have signed a lease that assures us the use of the training center for several years. Thank goodness!! The next big project is a new A/C system which may already be in the works by the time you read this message.

This is just in time for - our July Obedience Trial. Every trial is a special event as we welcome visitors to Daytona and our own dogs have a chance to compete with the home field advantage. Not competing right now? You can still participate by being a steward or filling another needed position. It will give you a front row seat to watch your friends work with their dogs and maybe pick up a tip. And it's easy.

Teachers and assistants – we need them. Our puppy and basic classes are solid money makers for the club AND provide a valuable service to the community. If you have not helped with one of these classes this year, please contact

Joan (386-761-1095) and offer to be an assistant this summer.

Want to Feel Good All Over? Be a Steward!

If you're suffering from a lack of praise and appreciation, you'll want to seriously consider signing up to steward at this summer's OCOD Obedience Trials,
Saturday and Sunday, July-16 & 17.

Every year we hear the same kind of praise from those who judge our trials and those who enter:

"Excellent stewards all weekend."

"Really GREAT stewards."

"We're spoiled. These are the best stewards we've ever had."

A number of club members turn up each year to work as stewards.

They know—as you will, if you've never done it before—that being a steward gets you a ring-side seat, up close and personal, for all the action. Plus lunch and goodies !

If you're thinking of preparing your dog for obedience performance, there's no better way to learn the ways of the ring than to steward.

And no experience is needed. We train!

This year, we'll have three obedience rings each day. Three judges.

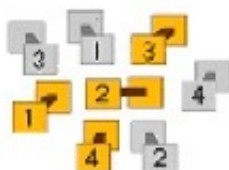

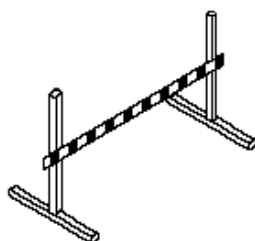

Novice, Open, Utility, and a few non-standard classes.

We'll need table stewards to help the judges keep the paperwork in order, and ring stewards to do things like put out scent articles and gloves, take leashes, deliver dumbbells, set jump heights, and act as posts for the figure-8 exercises. And the main task: to keep the rings running smoothly and our judges happy.

So if you'd like to give stewarding a try, or come back for another enjoyable experience, please contact

Chief Ring Steward Maria Orlando at morlado@cfl.rr.com or 386-788-4268.

Your help will be Greatly Appreciated!

Congratulations to OCOD Members !

The Obedience Club of Daytona is pleased to present a FREE Introduction to Competition Essentials Through Animal Communication presentation with renowned Animal Communicator, Intuitive Coach and Business Consultant, Laura Lassiter. Laura has taught powerful, cutting-edge competition techniques to organizations using animal communication. Clients have included Russell Ranch, Annwyn Equestrian Center and numerous individuals in the Field Trial Associations.

A brief overview using animal communication in the presentation will include:

- Description of animal communication
- ♦ Minimizing the possibilities of the dog being “reactive”
- ♦ Confidence for dogs who are “environmentally sensitive”
- ♦ Synchronized team work
- ♦ Reducing anxiety and fear levels in the dog and handler during competition
- ♦ Increase willingness of the dog to obey
- ♦ Quick recovery time for mistakes

Laura Lassiter left her successful corporate work of finance to follow a deeper calling and turned professional animal communicator over 15 years ago. Big Cat Rescue in Tampa, Florida, discovered Laura after Hurricane Katrina and was brought into the team of Big Cat Rescue to communicate with the Big Cats. Laura's business acumen combined with her intuitive abilities have created a new paradigm for enhancing the human-animal bond that is transforming lives. Please join us for a fun-filled, exciting hour presenting new possibilities in the world of dog competition.
